

The NECA Adopt-A-School program is designed to give back to local communities by providing support to area schools that are in need of additional resources. By increasing engagement with and exposing students to careers in the electrical industry, NECA Adopt-A-School benefits students, families, schools and entire communities by creating relationships, providing resources and opportunities, and building the industry's future workforce. Through this investment in children and communities, we can help develop tomorrow's electrical contracting manpower and contribute to the success of our industry.

A Win-Win: Supporting schools means a better educational experience for kids and helps create stronger communities, while providing a long-term return on your investment by building a talent pipeline for the industry.

- ★ Resources: Your chapter provides the school with supplies and resources to enhance the students' experience and strengthen school initiatives.
- ★ Structure: The program builds a relationship between schools and the electrical industry.
- ★ Visibility: Partnership between the school and chapter promotes awareness of career opportunities in the electrical contracting.

How to Participate: A chapter's level of involvement can vary! You might choose to sponsor frequent interactions that could include skill demonstrations, field trips to job sites, or presentations about the profession; a yearly monetary donation or volunteer services; or make a one-time donation of tools or equipment.
