Wrapping-up on Day 4, Project Closeout will feature Leadership Management, Motivation, and Implementing Lessons Learned

"There is true value found in interaction of the participants with different backgrounds, from various areas in the electrical industry. I found the quality of the class and instructors equal to any during my 4 years at Oregon State University. Being exposed to the field's perspective on various project management tasks is invaluable and expanded my perspective."

"This PM training gave me great insight on how to effectively gain control of projects from day one and how to deal with problems head-on, as they come up – I highly recommend these classes to anyone interested in project management."
